We Are All Completely Beside Ourselves Summary - BookRags.com

We Are All Completely Beside Ourselves, by Karen Fowler, follows Rosemary Cooke as she comes to terms with her past, her present, and her future. The story, as Rosemary states in the opening chapters, begins in the middle years of her life. Known as Rose in the book, she starts in the middle of stories because she finds those parts to be the most interesting. Rose has been attending college in Davis California for the last five years, still with no idea of what she wants to do with her

Reader's guide - themanbookerprize.com

Discussion points Early on in We Are All Completely Beside Ourselves, Rosemary Cooke tells the reader that she will start her story in the middle. Why is it important for her to skip the beginning? Many readers will know before starting the book that Fern is a chimpanzee. Some people say this adds to the reading experience, others wished that
